

Beau, Opie, & Hazel Bakies

March 13, 2026

Hazel was a happy little girl. Tippy tappies all day long. Always following to see where I went just like her brother Beau and her brother Opie. A quiet little baby always content with anything. She loved cuddling. When I first got her, I called her my good baby because that's where she always went was to the hood of my sweatshirt and just slept in it. Hazel was suppose to go to my little sister as her wedding gift this year. D.D: 3.13.26

Beau was hazels birth brother. Very spunky, and very loud. Always wanting something more. And whining if he didn't get it 🙄. He loved jumping at my feet. Running a muck around the house, always picking on his sister. Beau was suppose to go to my grandpa so he had a lap dog. D.D: 3.14.26

Opie was so loving. I'd get home from work and he'd run to me and whine until I picked him up for loves. He knew just when I needed cuddles. He would bite/ more like nibble my finger to get my attention or head butt me in the leg. D.D: 3.15.26

Hazel, Beau, and Opie will be forever missed. They brought me so much joy everyday.
