

Daisy

April 12, 2025

We moved to a different house in 2011. The second day we were there, Daisy showed up. I loved her from that moment on. She was a great cat. She was also the only cat I've ever had that never drew blood. Daisy was also the last animal that was still alive from before my father died in 2015. I will miss my friend.

--Josh