

Ezra

May 29, 2024

Ezra, my girl, it was too soon for you to depart from us and cross over the rainbow bridge, leaving us in an emptiness that cannot be filled. Your love for back rubs and snack time, especially your favorite treats of oranges and watermelon, brought us so much joy and delight. Even your snoring when you slept was a reminder of your presence. Now, you are at peace, surrounded by your puppies in the warmth and love of the rainbow bridge, where you will be able to run and play with joy and freedom forevermore.
