In Loving Memory of Krystal

2013 – 2025

Krystal came into our lives in 2013 after I found her living under a house — and from that moment, it was love at first sight. She quickly became my loyal companion and constant source of comfort through every chapter of life: college, dental school, marriage, and the births of my four children.

Krystal was beautiful, strong, and full of personality. She was our alpha girl — gentle with people but always sure to remind other dogs who was boss (except for her little sister, Kemah, whom she at least tolerated and secretly loved). She loved to eat anything, specifically sticks and chicken wings when we weren't looking, and she took her role as our household "vacuum cleaner" very seriously, always ready to clean up any crumbs that hit the floor.

More than anything, Krystal was family. Her love was steady, unconditional, and irreplaceable. She was my rock, my shadow, and my favorite "child." The bond we shared will stay with me forever.

Run free, sweet girl. You will always be loved and never forgotten.
