

Marley Estrada

February 6, 2024

Marley, also known as Marmars, Marmees, and Marleighna Danielle, was a vivacious little diva! She loved people and had never met a stranger. Her way of getting to know you was flopping on her back (we called it flowering) and letting you rub her belly. She was cast away as a puppy, living in the streets of Amarillo; until she was found and given to me. I had just been diagnosed with cancer, and I got her as a sort of personal therapy dog. She took her job seriously! She got me through the worst times in my cancer, and was a bright spot in my life. She saved me, by giving me something to live for. This girl was my best friend. She was loving all the way till the end. Marley died in my arms on February 11 at 10:00 am. She was so deeply loved that this little blurb could easily become a 24 chapter book! We will miss her smile and her happy little butt wiggle. Until we meet again Marley ♡
